

ECCO Call for New Study Project 2025

Deadline for submission is November 11, 2024

Context and aim of the project

In order to keep building on the contact that was established the previous years and aiming to foster collaboration among IBD National Study Groups in the framework of clinical studies further, the Clinical Research Committee of ECCO (ClinCom) is once again organising a National Study Group meeting at the next 20th Congress of ECCO in Berlin.

Date: February 19, 2025

Time: 17:30 – 20:30

Place: Messe Berlin, City Cube, Berlin, Germany

During the meeting, slots are kept for the presentation of new study project proposals. ClinCom can help you establishing a network, and performing a critical review of your studies to optimize study protocols and to help avoid redundant or scientifically questionable research efforts.

The assessment of a clinical research protocol encompasses a 2-stage process.

1st stage

During the first stage, applicants are called upon to provide a study synopsis including background, design, objectives, outcome parameters, major inclusion and exclusion criteria, statistics, and co-variates not exceeding 4 pages.

The project will be reviewed by ClinCom and we will come back to you either supporting or declining the presentation at the IBD National Study Group Meeting at the 20th Congress of ECCO.

Should you wish to have your projects discussed at the 10th National Study Group meeting, you are kindly invited to send your project proposals using the first stage's template of ECCO by November 11, 2024. Please download the first stage's template here and send it back to the following email address: ecco@ecco-ibd.eu

2nd stage

Beginning of 2025, the principal investigators who will present their study projects at the IBD National Study Group Meeting will be invited to submit a full protocol of their studies using an ECCO second stage's template.

Application criteria

If you are interested in submitting a study proposal and presenting it at the 10th IBD National Study Group meeting, please take into consideration the following information:

- Applicants need to be individual ECCO Members (= ECCO Members 2025).
- The study should be multicentric, executed predominantly in Europe.
- It should be a study with a simple and practical design, in which the great advantage of sharing with the IBD National Study Groups is recruiting a high number of patients. In this sense, ideally the study should be observational, non-interventional and retrospective. Randomized Clinical Trials are not recommended as these studies generally require a highly complex design.
- Proposed by an independent researcher.
- The investigation must be independent of the industry interests.
- Studies that use UR-CARE for data collection are encouraged

FINAL NOTE

ECCO is happy to facilitate the IBD National Study Group Meeting at the ECCO Congress to enhance international collaboration. The main contribution of ClinCom to these projects is scientific review and dissemination. However, ECCO does not provide financial or logistical support to these studies. Review of project protocols by ClinCom does not represent an ECCO endorsement for the projects.
