

October 2017: Update from the e-Learning Ambassador

I am happy to contact you again with several exciting new updates to share with you on the e-CCO Learning Platform.

Throughout the past years, the e-CCO Learning Platform has grown substantially. Currently, the Platform primarily comprises a series of introductory lectures that cover the basics of IBD as well as more detailed interactive courses and webcasts. ECCO Members are invited to try out the E-Guide, which is continuously updated with the latest data from studies, trials, and of course the ECCO Guidelines. Additionally, we are proud to present ECCO Talking Heads, a series of opinion pieces on hot topics in IBD from some of the leaders in their fields as well as all of the abstracts and plenary presentations from the past ECCO congresses.

Expanding our selection, we are thrilled to have added two new e-Courses to our library this October - Exit Strategies and Transitional Care in IBD. These case-based courses are interactive and include a post-course test in order to help you monitor your progress.

Additionally, these courses as well as other e-CCO Learning content have been aligned to the ECCO IBD Curriculum, ECCO's concise yet complete guide that outlines everything that gastroenterologists need to know to develop expertise in the field of IBD. We are proud to announce that you may now browse through the e-CCO content for each point of the IBD Curriculum in one of our specifically tailored databases, making it easier than ever to expand your knowledge about important topics in IBD.

Since my last letter in March 2017, over 2,000 people worldwide have visited the e-CCO Learning Platform and benefited from the rich educational content – I look forward to welcoming you as well!

ECCO e-Learning Ambassador,

James Lindsay