Call for participation in the 8th ECCO Scientific Workshop

Dear ECCO Members,

ECCO is launching its 8th Scientific Workshop that will be focusing on "Post-operative CD recurrence after ileocolonic resection: unanswered questions in definition, pathophysiology, prevention, diagnosis, and treatment".

ECCO Scientific Workshops aim at unravelling unanswered questions in the field of IBD, producing authoritative reviews and thus contributing to the body of knowledge. The workshops are launched bi-annually by our Scientific Committee (two-year process per workshop). All interested clinicians, surgeons, pathologists, and basic scientists are welcome to apply.

The following work groups have been defined:

- Group 1: Definition, prevalence, and pathophysiology of post-operative recurrence
- Group 2: Medical & surgical prevention of post-operative recurrence
- Group 3: Follow-up, diagnosis, and treatment of post-operative recurrence

If you wish to participate in this workshop, please submit your application by November 15, 2021 via the online submission pages. To access the online submission pages, please click here.

Applications must include:

- Your CV (maximum 2 pages)
- A brief statement on your expertise and possible contribution in the field- including relevant publications (max. 200–300 words)
- Commitment to fully participate in the active work of brainstorming, literature search, and report writing
- A short description of your current research activities in the field of the workshop and how your participation could foster further collaborative research in the field (max. 200–300 words)
- Optional: your preferred working group

To keep the working groups effective, a selection of a limited number of participants will be made by leaders and the steering committee, based on experience, complementarities within the groups, and commitment.
